Aloha!

Subject: You're Invited! Six Talk Story Community Meetings
October 2-5 and 7th

Aloha!

For me, providing the best possible representation for our Hawai'i and you in Washington, D.C. depends on always staying in touch back home.

As most of my work is in our nation's capital, I try to maintain a constant connection and communication with you in many different ways. My newsletters, e-newsletters, social media and monthly Reports to Hawai'i on 'Ōlelo's Channel 49 are just a few.

But nothing beats meeting and talking story with you personally, especially when I'm home. That's why I've already hosted several Talk Story community meetings this year across my district and with our troops serving overseas.

Our country and Hawai'i face many difficult issues, and I want and need to again talk story with you to share my thoughts and activities as your U.S. Congressman, answer your questions, listen to your concerns and understand how I can help. So I'm hosting another six Talk Story meetings in the next days, five in person and one by phone or social media.
